

The New York Times salutes the 10th anniversary of the American Democracy Project and the launch of The Democracy Commitment, two national initiatives focused on preparing college students to be informed, engaged citizens for our democracy.

American Democracy Project

The New York Times is proud to have been a co-founder of the American Democracy Project, a civic engagement initiative of the 400 public colleges and universities in the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU). The American Democracy Project works to prepare informed, engaged graduates to revitalize and strengthen our democracy. Over the past 10 years, the American Democracy Project has hosted nine national and 11 regional meetings; developed nine national initiatives from the Stewardship of Public Lands to eCitizenship; created two national awards; and spawned hundreds of campus initiatives.
